W: People judge risk badly, and crime is the clearest example. Murder is rare and reported everywhere, so it feels common; theft is common and reported nowhere, so it feels rare. Ask people what they fear and they name the first; ask what has actually happened to them and they describe the second. Good prevention therefore spends money where the numbers are, not where the fear is, which is why street lighting does more good than any camera.

人們判斷風險的能力很差，犯罪就是最明顯的例子。謀殺很罕見卻到處被報導，所以感覺很常見；竊盜很常見卻沒人報導，所以感覺很罕見。問人們害怕什麼，他們說前者；問他們實際遇過什麼，他們描述後者。因此好的預防措施把錢花在數字所在之處，而不是恐懼所在之處，這就是為什麼路燈的效益大於任何監視器。

Reported Crime by District

District	Residents	Crimes	Change
North	84,000	2,100	Down 6%
East	31,000	1,450	Down 3%
South	12,000	980	Up 21%
West	47,000	1,020	Down 9%

M: Please look at the printed crime figures for four districts while I comment. Notice that the district with the most reported crime also has the highest number of residents, so the rate per thousand people tells a different story. By that measure the quietest-looking district is actually the worst. Reported crime has fallen everywhere except one district, and that is the one where a new reporting app was introduced, which probably raised reporting rather than crime.

我評論時請看印出的四個行政區犯罪數字。請注意通報犯罪最多的區，居民人數也最多，因此每千人的比率說的是另一個故事。以這個標準看，看起來最平靜的那一區其實最糟。除了一區之外，各區通報犯罪都下降了，而那一區正是導入新報案 App 的地方，這可能提高的是通報率而不是犯罪率。

35. According to the table and the talk, why did crime rise in one district? 答案 B

根據表格與談話，為什麼有一區的犯罪上升？

- A. Lighting was removed. 路燈被拆除。
- B. A new reporting app raised reporting. 新的報案 App 提高了通報率。

- D. More criminals moved in. 更多罪犯搬入。
